I offered to do that 2 years ago. If they have concerns. I can even do it. They can send their pic/description to me – I can filter it and then post from my desk.

BTW – I am working with Shannon to see if there is a way we can easily arrange for live tweeting from the field. It's not as scary as it sounds. Shannon would actually be doing the tweeting based on input from OSCs in the field. OPA recently did a live tweet for the first time – LaTonya took a photo with Karl at an EJ event and sent it to Shannon who sent it out on twitter. It takes a little up front planning, but LaTonya thought it was simple on her end, so I think the OSCs would feel the same way.

This is probably the best way to get something posted quickly. The process for routine posting to facebook and twitter generally takes several days due to a backlog of stuff in the queue. Live tweeting would be much faster.

Once I hear back from Shannon I will let you know. Rest assured, I am on your side and wanting to help market all the good work you all are doing!

I am providing this short list of sites/communities where we have OSC on the sites daily or off/on routinely at this point. Hopefully this will provide better awareness of Ewhere and how many communities we are in, now, in case something comes up. Note: this is not an all inclusive list of removal investigations or cleanups that are planned out a few months. This is just a list where we do or may have a community presence now or in the near term. You should also be aware we are out in many communities currently doing FRP (large oil facility) inspections.
